

FUNDtech webBANKER

Do you want to offer value-added business services on the Web? Is offering Web-based payments and cash management services for business customers a bank strategy?

Do you want to reduce your cash management product and service delivery costs?

Do you want to offer profitable cash management services to all market segments?

Do you want to compete with top cash management banks?

Web Banking: The Great Equalizer

The Internet has caused a monumental shift in the way both individuals and businesses obtain and process information. Data is now more readily available, and more accurate. The Internet has changed the way people perform all types of activities, including critical financial and banking decisions. Internet banking offers businesses of all sizes the ability to bank according to their own unique needs.

The Internet has also changed the competitive landscape. The same technology that has enabled small and mid-sized businesses to compete with large corporations has also enabled banks regardless of demographic and geographic boundaries to compete for the same commercial customers.

FUNDtech webBANKER enables your bank to effectively compete with any bank, helps retain customers by offering the services they require and build your deposit base through acquisition of new commercial banking relationships.
